Meet Sir Thomas – My rescue. I am not supposed to go upstairs during the day – it's his nap time. Dig the crossed paws.

Hot off the Press - Eight Weeks (Hot Cop #8)

Eight Weeks

She is his to protect.

*But when a domestic goes bad,
he goes down in a hail of bullets.*

Will he lose his career?

Will he lose the woman who took his heart captive?

Hot Cop Series

An independent woman

A handsome cop

An undeniable attraction

One cop. One woman. One idiot with a gun.

A squared-away cop, Officer Stanley Westfield never breaks the rules. His career is everything to him. Then he met Julie and his world spun out of control.

A hard charging professional, Julie Cavendish has ignored men, until she meets Stan, an Adonis in uniform. Except it wasn't the uniform. It wasn't his looks. It was the man.

Confined in a cruiser, their mutual attraction overpowers them both. Sparks fly. Rules ignored. She gives and he takes. They both want more. End of shift holds a lot of promise.

When there's a screw-up in dispatch, Stan innocently drives Julie to a supposedly safe domestic. Routine. Without warning, the call goes to hell, multiple shots are fired, and his civilian partner has to watch him fall.

Weeks later, wounded, diminished, demoralized, Stan fears he's possibly lost his career. Can he get back? What if he can't?

Would Julie accept his less-than-perfect self? Or has he lost his last chance at love because of a random bullet?

Julie wasn't ready to be a witness to a horrific shooting, certainly not one that takes her officer down. Her officer. She's not family. She can't go see him. She has sparse information on his recovery. How can she let him know that it doesn't matter how badly he's been hurt, or what scars he bears, she loves him? Love doesn't demand perfection. Love does have to show up. If not—they could lose their chance at love forever.

It's been eight weeks.

Hot off the Press - Number Two

The Good Citizen (Hot Cop #9)

Hot Cop Series

An independent woman

A handsome cop

An undeniable attraction

She's got a murderous ex. He's got a crazy stalker. Can they survive their first date?

Jasmine Stapleton is a hard-working, law-abiding citizen, focused on keeping a low profile. She's also a crime-magnet.

When she meets a handsome officer after calling 911, her body's reaction to his presence made her verbal responses difficult. He didn't leave her a card so she has no idea how to meet him again.

When a friend suggests she sign up for a citizen class at the local PD, she jumps at the idea. She might get to speak to him while she was sensible. As for her ex, a police station was a safe as you could get. Meeting the officer again was worth it.

Sergeant Marshall Templeton, damaged by an ugly divorce, has spent a decade avoiding the entanglement of sexual relationships. When he followed up a 911 call, he was caught off guard at his reaction to Jasmine. He wanted to meet her off duty and out of uniform.

He is stunned weeks later to find her sitting demurely in the new citizen class.

When she leaves her notebook behind with her name and phone number scrawled across the front, he took it for an invitation.

He didn't count on being shot on her doorstep.

He didn't count on his demure fantasy woman being a badass, armed and dangerous.

He didn't count on a lot of things.

Buckle up for a hot ride with the Good Citizen. This was just the beginning... Buy it now At Amazon

Author's Note: Most of the police encounters in this story are true, some are fictional, and the names were changed to protect the innocent—more or less.

What I've Been Doing

Writing, writing, writing in the midst of chaos

- Night Hunter – Released -- A $0.99 steal about a vampire who is a bit unskilled, a kidnapped working girl who loves her Starbuck's, and what happens when fate and their passion collides.
- Haunt Me Released – a $0.99 steal - a sweet gothic regency historical in which the good girl finally gets her life back
- Italian Vampire - Back from copy-edit - Releases Feb 14th!
- Rollover – Out for copy-edit
- Website updates – several sites updated
- New software – Got Scrivener 3 and RapidWeaver (from Scotland) web design
- The Lilac Fire in San Diego – a living nightmare. I was prepared – if the wind shifts – I was ready to grab animals, papers, the urn, and my iMAC and its drives. Meds, some food, a few pieces of clothing. I was evacuated before and almost a second time. I learned that NOTHING IN YOUR HOUSE IS IMPORTANT BUT THE LIVES. I was 34 miles South of the flames. My house was damaged in the Cedar Fire of 2003. I love the Air Cranes. 2,300 gallons in one pass.
